Tasty Vegetables.

AKED SQUASH.-Winter squash is better baked than boiled. Cut squash in half, remove seeds and then cut into smaller pieces. Place them in a dripping pan and bake for about an bour, or until tender. Serve the pieces, which should be about as big as baked potatoes, as they are, to be eaten with butter.

Rissoles of Spinach.-Cut squares of pastry and put a heaping teaspoonful of cooked, chopped spinach in the center of each. Fold over, press together. brush with beaten egg and fry in hot fat to cover.

Baked Tomatoes.-Select fresh tomatoes, scald them and remove the skins. Butter a pudding dish and slice the tomatoes into it. Sprinkle some pepper and sait over them and a layer of grated cheese. Over that put some fine breadcrumbs and several small pieces of butter. Bake from twenty to twenty-five minutes in the oven, but do not overcook this dish.

Put a tablespoonful of breadcrumbs into the bottom of bake dish, then add two tablepoonfuls of the cream sauce and half the boiled parsnips, add two tablespoonfuls more of the cream sauce and a tablespoonful of brown sugar, then the balance of the parsnips and balance of the cream sauce over top. Sprinkle a tablespoonful of brown sugar and a tablespoonful of breadcrumbs over all. Bake in hot oven twenty minutes.

Potatoes With Beets and Eggs .-Mash boiled potatoes and to every quart of potatoes add a heaping tableiful of butter, a tablespoonful of salt, one-half a teaspoonful of pepper and hot milk or cream to moisten. Mash the potatoes in the kettle in which they were boiled and beat them with a fork until they are light and creamy. Turn them into a hot serving dish and carefully mold them into shape with a spoon. Garnish with slices of pickled beet, hard boiled egg and parsley.

Mushroom Omelet.—Cook a dozen small, evenly sized mushrooms in a saucepan with half an ounce of butter and half a saltspoonful of salt sprinkled over them. Make a plain French omelet, and as it cooks at the edges place the mushrooms over one-half of it; fold over the other half and slip from the pan into a hot dish and serve a much discussed subject-birth conture has been produced to serve a purpose of deep moral worth, and as 272 S. Beach St. such is an excellent and vivid preachment, as well as an entertain.ng production. It strikes at the very root of the evil, and lays bare every atom of truth in an earnest endeavor to bring about the desired end. That it does this is best attested by the fact that wherever shown "The Unborn" has had the unstinted approval of the press, pulpit and public. Because of the fact that "The Unborn" treats of a subject so delicate, the local board of censors have decreed that persons under 17 shall not be permitted to see the play, except when accompanied by parents or guardians.

"THE UNBORN" ARCADE THEATRE

No play ever written has caused so ater, beginning Thursday.

AT NEW DAYTONA

When "The Crisis" comes to the New Daytona theatre, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, veterans who fought on either side during the conflict that rent this nation asunder for four tragic years, can sit together for the first time in local stage history and see each cause fairly, impartially and sympathetically presented, each in all its strength and weakness. Hitherto in plays dealing with the strife of the North and the South, there has been a prejudice more or les violent in one direction or the other, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," at the one extreme, was of the North, reeking with Puritan intolerance of the planmuch genuine, deep-rooted interest as tation owner's views. "The Birth of has "The Unborn," which is booked to a Nation" was of the South, though fill an engagement at the Arcade the- conceived and executed with a broader and more liberal spirit.

Winston Churchill, in writing "The "The Unborn" is a photo play that Crisis" took a large-minded view of deals in a most original manner with the events leading up to and culminatingi n the bloody struggle of '61-65. trol. "The Unborn" handles it in a and wove his observations into a stomost unobjectionable way. The pic- ry of broad sympathies and tremendous dramatic power. In two characters, life-long friends, and now men in the iron age of life, he embodied the opposite spirits of the conflict. He brought these characters together on the debatable ground of old St. Louis. Around them he clustered a group of other interesting personages. and evolved out of the conflict of views and prejudices the most powerful novel yet written on a purely American theme. His Northern hero and his Southern heroine, intensely interesting in themselves, are yet mere puppets in the hands of the glant forces that tore a nation in two, and that are embodied in Colonel Carvel and Judge Whipple. In making his photoplay. William N. Selig followed exactly the events of Mr. Churchill's novel, and, it is said. faithfully preserved the spirit. A striking musical score, WHOM THE GODS DESTROY" the spirit. A striking musical score, based on romantic and patriotic airs popular at the period, and interpreted by a full symphony orchestra, greatly intensifies the effect of the shadow drama. Little less pathetic than the story of Lincoln himself. though keeyed in a minor and less heroic strain, is the story of Sam D. Crane, who plays the part of the great

Lincoln was stricken down before he saw the results of a great work to which he had devoted so many bitter years of his life. Drane died before he realized the fame that is bound to come to him in his extraordinary re-creation of the greatest, yet simplest and most human figure in American history. For a number of years. Drane had been playing the ten-cent vaudeville circuits, doing a little comedy act which pleased the patrons of the cheaper form of entertainment, but which failed to attract the magnates who control the higher circuis of vaudeville. Drane's naturally strong resemblance to Lincoln had led him to introduce a short impersonation of the emancipator in the second half of play started with the same lineup. Very apparently something had happened during the intermission. The home boys startled their visiting opponents and gladdened the hearts of all loyal rooters by putting every ounce of muscle and skill into the guarding to prevent Miami from making greater its lead, and into the passing and goal throwing to overcome the four points needed to even the score. But determination is as prevalent in Miami as in Daytona and five hard, perspiring, exhausting minutes passed before the local boys could tie the count. Another five min-48-4tp utes of nearly equal playing occurred and then something fell out of Miami's playing. Something happenerngon at Casino Burgoyne or on the way. Kindly return to Daily News of the Daytona boys so that they made more than ten goals in as many minutes during the last quarter of the game: Many had believed Daytona would win but no one had a remote idea that it would walk away from the far-famed guarding of the lower East Coast boys or hold down their noted goal throwers in such a way to win, 38 to 21.

E. F. Hutton & Co.: "It is believed that the Kaiser on his birthday tomorrow will offer some sort of peace terms. The question comes down now to: 'Are we not getting more or less on a peace basis?' Railroads certainly are and many industrials are. War stocks are no longer a menace. Money is easy and liquidations have been quite thorough. Readjustments of values are going on all the time. We should consider the shipping stocks a better purchase without war than with it. Markets are very quiet now but there is too much of big export to prevent in the near future greater activity and more violent fluctuations.'

HIGH COST OF LIVING

(By G. Y. CLEMENT.)

The big idea back of a national Thrift Day is to focus the thought of one hundred million people upon practical ways and means of not only adjustment to the high cost of living but-action.

It is to start something. We are all creatures of natural tendencies, and these usually result in habits. We establish the habit of spending an average amount of money for certain things and when that source of supply is changed or some other factor enters into the supply that causes the cost or production to increase, it does not necessarily follow that our wages

With the constantly increased cost of living, we are confronted with the necessity for an adjustment. Every individual's adjustment is necessarilv different.

Thrift Day is a day to reduce waste, thereby increasing efficiency. Actually taking a step in the direction of thrift has been described as a combination of mental and physical action-both are essential to the accomplishment.

Putting true thrift action into effect on Thrift Day is not only represented by placing an added deposit to that nest egg being built up in the savings account to take care of the future, but can be practiced in a thousand different ways, depending upon the environment and habits of the individual.

The main and big idea fulfilled on Thrift Day by man, woman or child includes starting a thrift habit or practice that had been decided upon and then cut off, or one that has just been suggested as the result of an exchange of ideas on this subject. It may include a greater thrift of time. A young man or woman comes to a realization that a disproportionare amount of time has been expendd in so-called society or amusement every evening being given up to comparatively idle association and idle talk. That individual decides upon a course of instructive reading or a night school class of one or more evenings each week. Having the time set is important. Starting a course of study on the evening of Thrift Day with this end in view, thereby practicing greater thrift of time, is in effect setting the wheels in motion toward the goal of top-notch efficiency and individual success.

One of the greatest objects of the proper conception of Thrift Day is to recognize the true meaning of thrift and that meaning is none other than increased efficiency.

Among the prominent tourists who visited Wilbur-by-the-Sea today were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brainerd, of Cleveland, Ohio, in company with A. D. Taylor, a landscape architect from the same city, who made a brief stay at the Toronita hotel, en route to Jacksonville by auto. Mr. Brainerd is vice-president of the National Screw & Tack company, and is affiliated with other large concerns. other large concerns.

Workmen are removing the sand counds which obstructed the view of the ocean from the dining room of the Toronita hotel, greatly adding to the appearance.

The guests of the Toronita hotel enjoyed a Honolulu party Thursday evening, which was an unqualified success. The jovial spirit which is always very prominent among the Toronita guests was in evidence. Among those who were instrumental in making the affair such an admira-ble success were Misses Marjorie Brown, Mary Fellows, Ruth Wilbur. Adelaide Ehrmann, Mr. and Mrs. Em-mons, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eaton and Harold Whidden.

Among the recent guests at the Toronita hotel are Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Rickards, Balsam, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Morrow, Pittsburgh; J. N.

Mrs. Augusta Stiles and her daughter, Miss Edith Stiles, are again visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Branch at their pretty winter residence, which has recently been remodeled. Mrs. Stiles and her daughter formerly lived in Lowell, where Mr. Stiles conducted the largest grocery store in that city. A large party of guests from the middle west arrived at the Toronita hotel Friday, where they will be entertained for a fortnight.

Miss Piper entertained her guests with a "heart" party. Thursday afternoon, in a delightful and charming manner. Mrs. James Emerson was awarded the ladies prize and T. A. Curtis won the gentlemen's award.

Avoiding a Suggestion.

"Do you think your townspeople will give you any banquets?" "Not if I can head 'em off," replied Senator Sorghum. "I don't want to get with a crowd and sit right down in front of a reminder of the high cost of living problem."
